Service learning experiences have been proven to be an effective pedagogical strategy to foster critical thinking skills, develop workplace skills, and instill civic responsibility. Faculty members who would like to incorporate a civic engagement component to broaden their students' experiences can call the Civic Engagement and Service Education Partnerships (CESEP) program for assistance with:

- Course development
- Identifying community partners who will provide experiences for your students that match your learning goals.
- Sample assessment tools you can adapt for your needs including tips for reflective journals
- Tracking students performance and provide you with information for grading
- Publicizing your course
- Gathering latest research in your field related to engaged pedagogy

To learn how you can add a CESEP Component to your course

CESEP Recitation Sample Syllabus

Best Practices of Service Learning
CESEP Implementation Timeline for Faculty

Public Scholarship and Service Learning Course Development Grant Recipients